The Amendment Campaign With Evident Enthusiasm.

Chairman Weeks Chases and Runs Down Rainbows Galore.

THE STRIKER MARKET QUOTATIONS

Allegheny County's Vote a Matter of Profound Uncertainty.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF THE FIGHT

Hon. Bill Chandler's memorable advice, "claim everything," seems to be the watchword of both wet and dry in the campaign which closed last night in a mist of beer. The antiprohibition people opened a supplementary campaign with a bung-starter last night, but to all intents and purposes the campaign proper was ended yesterday, and the decks cleared for action all over Pennsylvania. There has been considerable noise made, but mainly by the drys, who have done all their work on the surface and in sight and sound of the throng. The wets, on the other hand, have conducted the most silent sort of a still bunt, and the surface indications have been so cleverly concealed that the Anti-Prohfbition Executive Committee has even been accused of inactivity by the enemies of the amendment. It is, however, really touching to hear the extravagantly confident claims set up by the putative leaders of both sides. Confidence is a beautiful at-tribute of politics, and the presumption that some people are whistling to keep their couris very natural under the circum

AN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN. AN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN.

The campaign has been largely one of education, and millions of tracts, pamphlets, documents and extracts from speeches of public men have been put into general circulation. Innumerable meetings have been held by the Prohibitionists, and dead walls have blossomed with staring posters setting forth the merits of each side of the question. The antis have done very little orating and made no public attempt whatever to parry the home-thrusts of their adversaries. The Prohibitionists have had all the pleasure of a fight with an enemy which would not strike back, but the antis have upheld the doctrine popular among politicians—"votes count."

The large few days of the compaign have been ticians—"votes count."

The last few days of the campaign have been growing warmer and warmer, and yesterday the windup was tull of fury and sound, and both sides have girt up their loins for a decisive settlement to-day of the temperance question in this State. Nor have those invaluable auxiliaries of popular suffrace—the strikers—alies of popular suffrage—the strikers—al-d themselves to be lost sight of. The man lowed themselves to be lost sight of. The man who looms up on the eve of election day with his voting bailiwick in his vest pocket was more than usually numerous. He was not over and above board particular as to his remuneration, either. The awful rapacity of a Presidental year was not displayed, and "inflooence" was dirt cheap, the quotations on ward-workers ranging from $10 to $55, with apparent demand light. It is possible that by this morning a drink of liquor will command the services of the expert heeler who is "out for stuff."

CHAIRMAN WEEKS CONFIDENT. ists, spoke with singular confidence, of the Al-legheny County prospects. He said: "The in-dications are bright indeed. If we can get out 60,000 votes we will carry the county. On a basis of 50,000 votes we will hold the Anti-Pro-hibitionists level. No, I don't think I am visionary. We have done the best we could with get a clear majority of the organized labor vote in the county. We are sure that the other side has imported a lot of professional repeaters from Cincinnati and other cities, but we have detectives enough engaged to frustrate any such schemes. Several of our best workers have been approached and offered as high as $50 to refrain from work to-morrow or to go to the hostile camp, but I don't fear their loyalty. We are going to watch closely for liquor at the rolls and arrive anome trying to debanch polls, and arrist anyone trying to debauch voters. Oh, yes! The vest-pocket vote is over-whelmingly with us, and we will win without any doubt in this county if we get the vole

THE CHAIRMAN CRITICISED.

Mr. Weeks bustled out of the room, and a young temperance orator who has a national reputation turned to the reporter and asked: "Are you going to print that absurd estimate?" To an affirmative reply, the speaker continued: "A grave mistake was made in appointing Mr. Weeks Chairman in Allegheny county, for he is far too visionary and impressionable to man age such a campaign. He has been held in check by the committee to some extent, but

Our campaign will be laughed at when such palpably absurd claims are set up by the head. I expect it to snow wet ballots to-mor-

Alderman A. H. Leslie, who was sitting by said: "Well, Mr. Weeks is naturally hopeful, and when such men as Controller Morrow estimate that the antis will only carry the county by 3,000. I don't see why we shouldn't claim something. As to the financial aspect of the campaign, we are informed that the antis will spend $3,000,000. They have raised money by threats from all the tradespeople dealing with brewers and saloonists. I believe that these frantic appeals for a large majority in the county and State are a distinct menace to the Brooks law; for, if they win this fight, you'll see the liquor men going to the Legislature in an effort to take out the restrictive clauses in the Brooks law. We have our 800,000 ballots all in the hands of our workers, and everything is in shape for a brisk fight to morrow." and when such men as Controller Morrow esti thing is in shape for a brisk fight to-morrow

LIQUOR LEADERS WIDE AWAKE. Things were extremely lively at No. 60 Fourth avenue, the Anti-Prohibition Association headquarters, A stream of men was pouring in empty-handed and departing with great bundles of ballots. That useful citizen, the striker, was on deck early and often. He expaniated upon his "inflooence" all day to three weary men in shirtsleeves, whose sole duty it seemed to be to administer a chilly bluff to the would-be handlers of campaign boodle. The types of character shown were remarkable. One man started out at $20 and deprectated his modestabilities until the small sum of 50 cents was asked and re-fused. He went away swearing allegiance to the drys. The section of the committee charged with "standing off" "strikers" ex-pressed astonishment at the number of well known and respectable men who desired to be almoners of corruption funds. The answer

Chairman Wainwright was asked how the campaign was progressing. "Our organization of 30 counties, with headquarters here, is perfeet and our arrangements are all completed.
We have made it a business fight and have dealt in no abuse for our adversaries. A great deal of literature has been put out, mostly of a conservative nature. As to our plans for to-morrow we have ordered the prime for to-morrow we have ordered the trade to refrain absolutely from selling to-morrow. We will have bandwagons out to stir up the voters, but we have given orders to stop the music if any bands of women or children praying or sluging are encountered. We have adopted the still hunt method so effectively that the trade has believed us inactive. fectively that the trade has believed us inactive. We have, of course, spent a good deal of money in legitimate expenses, but I cannot say how much the 30 counties have cost to organise until the bills come in after election. Our workers at the polls are men who are not affiliated with the trade, but who are helping us out from conviction. Yes, I think Judge White's speeches have done has party good in some quarters, but injury in others. Our local organization? One well-known gentleman, a politician was placed in charge of the work and a committee of eight, four Democrats and four Republicans, assisted him in districting the county and appointing men for each precinct. As for estimates, we will have 25,000 majority in the county on a basis of 65,000 votes cast, but there is a great deal of guesswork about the thing. We expect to carry the 30 counties by 15,000 or 20,000. Some of these supposed tem-18,000 or 20,000. Some of these supposed temperance strongholds, like Washington, Greene and Armstrong counties, will be serious surprises to the temperance people. But as for the amendment, it is only a matter of what our majority will be in the State. The battle is Captala Trevellick on the Southside. The closing amendment meeting on the Southside was held last night in Odd Fellows' Hall, John D. Carey, presiding. Captain Trevellick, addressing a large audience, spoke of the ethics of the temperance question and its ELEVENHOURS OFFU. ellick, addressing a large audience, spoke of the ethics of the temperance question and its relation to public morals. He said that the evil results of the liquor were greater than its virtues, and that where one man profited by the traffic 1,000 were cursed. The speaker said that the late Thomas A. Armstrong and President James Campbell some time ago told him that liquor was a curse to organized labor. He re-minded the Knights of Labor of their obliga-tion under their knighthood, and closed with a strong appeal to them to vote for the amend-ment.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

CLAIMING ALL IN SIGHT. Only a Slim Audience to Henr the Last Speech of the Campaign.

The final, and what was intended to be a triumphant assemblage of the friends of the amendment held at the Opera House last night, was in every respect, a dire failure. When at 7:50 the Moorhead choir, of the W. C. T. Union No. 2, opened the proceedings by singing in excellent manner the glee "One More River to Cross." The expectation of the some 200 people who were then present, was toward an oratorical dispray of more than usual interest. The placards announcing that Mr. E. B. Dougherty, "The silver-tongued Irish orator" would speak in favor of the Irish orator" would speak in favor of the amendment, led many persons to suppose that they should hear the original silver-tongued Dan Dougherty, of Philadelphia, but they were doomed to disappointment, when County Chairman Joseph D. Weeks advanced, and being prompted by that gentleman as to his antecedents, introduced the speaker of the evening as Mr. E. B. Dougherty, of Beaver, Pa. "a gentleman who is an Irishman," he said, "or better still, the son of an Irishman," and who would address the meeting.

gentieman who is an Irishman, he said, or better still, the son of an Irishman." and who would address the meeting.

Mr. Dougherty on coming forward said that in announcing this meeting that in some way or other names had gotten mixed, that the silver-tongued crator was not present, and that he himself was not an orator, nothing but a plain lawyer. Proceeding in his speech, which lasted an hour and twenty-five minutes, the speaker said he would speak extemporaneously and give them facts and figures. In searching for these, chiefly in support of his argument that hotels need not necessarily have salcons attached, Mr. Dougherty traveled, in his address, over a good portion of Europe, elaborating his speech with poetical allusions. The gist of his speech was to the effect, that if liquor selling was a respectable business, why should a man require to be of good moral character to engage in it. It was not so with other businesses, in which men could engage without inquire; that hier liceuse had been other businesses, in which men could engage without inquiry; that high license had been obtained and was proved a failure, and that no attention should be paid to the utterances of the whisky press which were supported by the money wrung from wretched homes.

AN ANTI'S SPEECH.

The Prohibitionists Allowed the Other Side to Address Their Meeting. The Twin City Prohibition Club held an open air meeting in the Allegheny Diamond last evening, and about a dozen prominent speakers delivered addresses, Among them were C. C. Setia and J. Brown, of Illinois; G. Sweeney, of Turtle Creek, and G. Gessler, of Kansas. The choir that rendered a number of prohibition songs was composed of the family of J. R. B. Arnold. Chairman Swoger invited any person in the Chairman Swoger invited any person in the audience who desired to speak on the other side to step up on the platform. Barney McGochen responded very promptly, and said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen and Citizens" while he hesitated for a few moments some person in the audience invited him to take off his hat. He accommodated them and continued. "If there is drink and distress because there is saloons there is. I know which. There should be saloons. If there is distress with saloons i know there is distress without saloons. (Applause.) If drink is drunk and causes distress to his family he would cause distress to his family if there is no drink to be drunk. ["Six months," called out a man in the audience. I I say that no man should think what drink if he does know what does? If he wants to be a Christian, he wants oes? If he wants dribk if he does know what oes? If he wants to be a Christian, he wants o be a Christian, and I think that he does. Tumultuous applause.] My experience is that rink is drink and I can talk all night. Distress is when a man cannot get drink. I am—"
"We will now introduce the next speaker," said the chairmau, and the anti orator was led away. Mr. Swoger said he thought the anti speech was better for the cause than any of the speeches delivered during the evening.

CHILDREN AT THE POLLS.

They Will be Driven Around in Wagons, and Sing Stirring Songs. Merry as crickets were the couple of score children, about a dozen of whom were boys who assembled yesterday at 4:30 P. M. in the our canvass, and we will carry the townships, boroughs and Allegheny City, and bring a nice majority against Pittsburg's limits. We will final exercises, under the able direction of and Arch streets, Allegheny, to execute their nal exercises, under songs with which it is proposed they shall enliven to-day's proceedings at the polls. The children will be driven in large wagons from poll to poll throughout the day, expressing the sentiments of prohibition in such songs as "Grandly the People are Rising," "Coming From the Mountains," "Prohibition is March-From the Mountains," "Prohibition is Marching On;" the latter to the popular old darkey tune of "One More Blyer to Cross." The tollowing chorus; sung to the air of "Marching Thro' Georgia," if vague, is stirring and might as deptly be sung by one side as the other. A delegation of 75 children from the Eighth Street R. P. Church's Industrial and Temperance School is to meet the others at the Allegheny church at 9 A. M., where wagons will be in readiness for them,

LAST IN ALLEGHENY.

A Rousing Prohibition Gathering at Union Rink Last Evening.

The final meeting of the Allegheny Constitutional Amendment Association was held last evening in the Union Rink, Allegheny. The 1,200 seats were occupied and fully 600 people stood in the aisles and against the walls. A fine musical programme was rendered, which included a violin solo by J. F. Irwin, a vocal included a violin solo by J. F. Irwin, a vocal solo by Miss Belle Tomer, selections by the Allegheny Ladies' Quartet, the Cruikshank family and the Verdi Choral Society.

The speaker of the evening was T. Edward Murphy, who delivered a very forcible address on the subject of prohibition. He was frequently interrupted by applause. At the close of his address Rev. T. J. Leak made a few recents and said that ligner was responsible for marks, and said that liquor was responsible for the assassination of President Lincoln. If Booth had not been made drunk he would not have had the nerve to fire the fatal shot.

REV. C. E. Locke thinks the polls not the place for the fair sex. CHIEF Brown will have policemen at every

An all-day prayer meeting in sympathy with the success of the amendment will be hel the Smithfield Street M. E. Church to-day. THE Executive Committee of the Southside Anti-Prohibitionists held its final meeting last night and placed ballots in the hands of the poll workers.

The Bloomfield Leadertoffel Singing Society turned out last night on Liberty avenue, mounted on horses for the purpose of creating a boom in liquor votes to-day.

THE election boards who serve in to-day's election were regularly elected last February, and are supposed to be nearly equally divided between the two great parties. IT cost the "antis" over $2,000 to mail ballots to the 106,000 registered voters in the county. The prohibition people say they did not mail ballots from economic reasons. Hon. Timothy O'LEARY is generalissimo of the political wing of the anti-prohibition campaign. Mr. W. J. Brennan was in great de-mand at the "anti" headquarters, although not EDWARD MURPHY addressed a large au

Fat Lawyers, Lean Lawyers, Old and Young, and Four Judges Disport

IN THE WOODS AT ROCK POINT.

Allegheny Bar Association Picnics Improve

by Age--Yesterday's Was MORE ENJOYABLE THAN ANY PRECEDING

It is generally supposed that lawvers can do nothing unless they are able to cite a proce-dent, but in the matter of pionics they seem to be able to make "common law" as readily as any of the old mummies who have given us 1,500 or 2,000 volumes of decisions which constitute the body thereof. Between 300 and 500 of them, members and guests of the Allegheny County Bar Association, went to Rock Point yesterday, and the most of them went as did the Israelites of old up to their annual festivals, with joy and singleness of heart. There was also a sprinkling of the profession from the surrounding counties, among them Judge Wickham, of Beaver. They had the Great

Wickham, of Beaver. They had the Great Western Band with them, and Kennedy furnished the solids and fluids in a manner that won the hearts of the crowd, especially that part of the programme in which strawberries were served twice to those whose digestions would allow it.

The first impression one got as he scaled the rocky height, and before he could see anything, was that a circus was performing. The music was fast and furious, like that in a circus when the horses are urged to the top of their speed in the grand "tableau" or "walk around." It was subsequently learned that the legal exercises were of that quality which required music denominated at country shindigs—quick

A ROUGH AND READY CROWD. Some of the judges present were dressed with the dignity comporting with their func-tions, and so were some of the lawyers, but the majority had on picnic apparel in which flan-nel shirts predominated, and when they got heated coats and vests were shed with an abandon that would have done credit to a heated coats and vests were shed with an abandon that would have done credit to a party of harvesters.

There may have been pocket pistols in the crowd, but if so their effect was not visible, for everything, though hilarious, was decorous. Messrs. A. V. D. Watterson and Joseph Brown took a straw vote to determine which way the wind blew on the Constitutional amendment question, and it resulted: Lawyers, for 76, against 90; Great Western Band, 17 for, I against; waiters, 4 for, 21 against. The Judges didn't vote. Some called it "non-committai" and others "on the fence."

The weather might have been better, and yet it wasn't bad, considering that there was a dancing platform in the grand pavilion with an area of over 6,000 feet, beside shooting and other pavilions covering as much more space and all sorts of recreations were patronized. Some tried baseball, but the most seductive game, apparently, at least, was quoits, and one thing was demonstrated, viz.: That the game is in its decadence, the older "boys" generally getting away with the younger. A few of the latter pitched a respectable game, but the majority of the experts were above 40 years of age. It was even rumored that Mr. William Swissheln was so far carried off his moral pins as to pitch a game for a prize of a walking stick. However that may be, he and Commissioner McKee and Noah Shaffer, Eaq. got away with all the young feilows except Alex. Giffillan and a few other country bred youths who had gotten an education around various blacksmith shops. Giffillan was an adept at ringers and a few other country bred youths who had gotten an education around various blacksmith shops. Gilfillan was an adept at ringers and leaners, making as high as one each at one inning, but Swisshelm's steady gait counting generally one and sometimes two against Commissioner Mercer. Mr. Henderson inscribed victory on the banner of his side. Mr. Mercer generally put the rings in the right place, but they generally refused to stay there, while Swisshelm's disregard of technicalities counted in general average. Mr. Hall was also one of the elderly boys who cut the combs of the youngsters.

A CHANCE FOR VERSATILITY. The events of the afternoon were the Virginia reel and the regatta, but they were preceded by some excellent vocal music. Among the singers were Messrs. C. F. Crawford, George Elphinstone, W. P. Potter, J. Boyd Duff, A. V. D. Watterson, C. C. Montooth, G. B. Brown, John Rodgers McCreery, and C. W. Scovel, tenors; E. W. Smith, R. A. Balph, J. H. Harrison, J. J. Miller, J. W. Collins, J. L. McCutcheon, and C. C. Dickey, bassos, "Way Down the Suance River" was especial-

n the reel the "ladies" were distinguished by wearing 'kerchiefs on their arms. Some of the dancers were close on three score and ten in age, but they were among the most alert, and one who especially distinguished himself was T. J. Keenan, Esq., and Major Negley and C. C. Dickey, Esq., as the Two Johns, covered themselves with glory.

About 4 o'clock the sun shone out brightly and the regatta was ordered. There were five double entries, John Rourke and James Buchanan, John Siack and Henry Brunot, R. H. Johnston and Henry Meyer, E. Z. Smith and Thomas Patterson and J. S. McCutcheon and Albert York Smith. The judges were Judges Ewing and Magee. Considerable difficulty was experienced in starting, and the boats fouled frequently. The red turban of Mr. McCutcheon, like the white plume of Henry Navarre, was everywhere present, and it was provocative of mischief all the time. He and his partner, Mr. A. Y. Smith, came near running down Judges Ewing and Magee several times. They protested vigorously and several of the sections was everal times. They protested vigorously and several of the sections was everal times. ning down Judges Ewing and Magee several times. They protested vigorously and several of the spectators were certain they could see Their Honors' hair rise as they arose to their feet to repel the boarders. Certain it is that Their Honors were in poor condition to render a decision. It was expected that Messrs. Johnston and Meyer would win, but they couldn't keep the channel, and Mr. Johnston said the trouble was that their boat had no keel. Bourke and Buchanan won the first heat, and E. Z. Smith and Thomas Patterson the second and third.

THE NATIONAL GAME A FAILURE. The baseball match was almost a failure. At the end of the third inning, when the score stood 14 to 3, the umpire, Mr. William Frew, was hit in the eye by a hot liner and retired, when the game fell through,

The most surprising incident of the day was contributed by one of the quietest members of bar. Captain Breck was holding a hat to test the kicking abilities of the bar, when Mr. Stillwagon introduced Joseph Forsythe, Esq. Some very creditable work had been done when Mr. Forsythe came forward and knocked the tile out of Captain Breck's hands at the height of eight feet. Mr. Forsythe kept it up until he demonstrated that there wasn't a man tall enough to hold it out of his reach, and thus stopped this part of the progamme, as he couldn't find anyone bold enough to contest.

HELP FOR JOHNSTOWN LAWYERS. Before leaving, a meeting was organized for the relief of the Johnstown lawyers, President W. B. Negley, Chairman. After some talk the $1,000 be appropriated from the treasury of the Allegheny County Bar Association for the purpose of aiding the members of the Cambria County bar resident in Johnstown; that a com-County bar resident in Johnstown; that a committee of five be appointed to carry this resolution into effect and that the secretary be instructed to ask the corporation of other bar associations in the United States in the relief of their brethren in Johnstown. Messrs. S. A. McClung, J. H. Baldwin, E. Y. Breck, O. S. Richardson and S. B. Schoyer were appointed the committee, the first named chairman.

There was room for each to indulge in his specialty. Judges Slagle and Over seemed to think there was mental relaxation in euchre; Magnus Pflaum was death to sparrows, and J. W. Hayne, who is supposed to protect the finny tribe hereabout, ruled that there was no law that prevented the catching of chubs in law that prevented the catching of chubs in the Connoquenessing. Though very much re-laxed, about 300 members of the bar decided that if they lived they would do it again next Man's Wife and is Arrested. Mrs. Harriet Nash and William Denman were arrested yesterday afternoon, and placed in arrested yesterday afternoon, and placed in jail on information lodged against them by Daniel Nash, husband of the woman. Denman became intimate with Mrs. Nash at a boarding house, which led to the separation of Nash and his wife. The household goods were auctioned off, and the proceeds divided. She said she was going to Europe, but Nash sussected that his wife would join Denman. He employed Detective Daily, and the eloping couple were traced to Meadville. An Allegheny Electric Light Plant. A special sub-committee of five gentlemen, Messrs, Arthur Kennedy, James Hunter, George Snaman, J. W. Lahugh and Chairman Stayton, of the Allegheny Gas Committee, was appointed at the meeting of the General Committee last evening, to take cognizance of the plan to erect an electric light plant on bebalf of the city of Allegheny, pursuant to a resolution passed at the special meeting of Councils on May 31. The sub-committee will receive specifications and plans and report to the General Committee the leasibility of having an electric light plant built, to be purchased eventually by the city. THE SCALE COMPLETED.

Iron Workers Get Through With Their Scale-They do Not Anticipate Any Trouble-A Committee to Meet the Carnegle Firm.

The morning session of the Amalgamated As sociation Convention, yesterday, was occupied in considering the report of the Scale and Wago Committees. The scale was completed finally, and although it does not differ materially with the one in force during the year, contains many changes. None of them, it is thought, will b objectionable to the manufacturers, and no trouble in the iron and steel industry is expected this year. The scale as drawn up was sent to the printer last night, and will be pre-sented to the manufacturers this evening or Some changes of a very important nature are Some changes of a very important nature are contemplated in the constitution, and this subject took up most of the afternoon. Nothing was done, however, and the matter will be considered at this morning's session.

The trouble that may occur at the Homestead plant of Carnegie, Phipps & Co., on Mr. Carnegie's sliding scale proposition, was discussed at length. A scale that will be satisfactory to the men, and one that does not differ very materially with the one proposed by the firm, was drawn up and turned over to a committee composed of the following persons employed in the mill: John House, James Kaine, Daniel Cussick, William Brown, J. B. Parrington, Levi Felty, George W. Sarver, Nevin McConville, Oscar Colfesh, Hugh O'Donnell, W. W. McLain, Isaac J. Jury, J. H. Dodge, John E. Jones and President Weihe. Another member will be added to the committee from the 33-inch mill to-day and this body will confer with the firm on the scale. A settlement is expected, as there is not a great deal of difference between the scale. A settlement is expected, as there is not a great deal of difference between the two agreed dear of difference between the two scales.

A proposition to engage a lawyer to look after the interests of the organization and advise as to the legality of strikes was considered, but no definite action on the matter was taken. At the close of the session Mr. Weihe was asked by a DISPATCH reporter whether he would be a candidate for re-election again and he said:

"I have answered that question before, but will state positively that I am not a candidate and will not accept the position under any circumstances."

Secretary J. D. Weeks, of the Western Iron Secretary J. D. Weeks, of the Western Iron Association, was seen last evening while he was hurrying to an amendment meeting. He stopped for a moment or two to talk to a couple of Amalgamated Association delegates and a DISPATCH reporter, "I do not know anything about the iron scale this year," said he, "as I am kept very busy looking after the interests of our prohibition movement. I will say this, however, I believe there will be a big fight at Homestead, and I believe the Carnegies will win. When they start out to do a thing they generally get there. When they get their teeth set they will not back out. If the men intend to fight the proposition made to them, I would advise them to consider it well before they do. I do not know what the iron scale will be this year, but, as I said before, if it is the same as last year without any snakes, it will likely be adopted, or rather, there will not be any serious trouble. Ithave not had a conversation with a manufacturer on the subject for a long time, but I do not think any of them are worrying about the matter."

OPPOSING PLUCK-ME STORES.

The Miners Inaugurate a Fight Against

Them and Will Likely Win. The "pluck-me" or company stores must go, and a fight against them was inaugurated yesterday. Master Workman Rea, of N. T. A. 135, K. of L., and National Secretary Watchborn are in town to aid the men. No trouble is expected, and none will occur unless miners are discharged for not dealing in the stores owned discharged for not dealing in the stores owned or operated by their employers.

The fight against the stores will aid the miners in securing a uniform rate for digging throughout the region. The New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company refused to pay the rate, claiming that they could not compete with other operators who owned stores. When they were informed that company stores would not be patronized in the future the firm promptly agreed to pay the price. Other firms are expected to fall into line and a strike will not likely occur.

A Strike of Bakers. ward & Co., East End; W. J. Ward, Allegheny, and G. S. Ward, Allegheny. The dispute is on the bakers' scale. The men demand that a day's work shall consist of 11 hours, and no overtime, except when unavoidable, and then to be paid at the rate of time and a half. The wages are fixed at $12 per week, the men to have the privilege of boarding out.

COAL is now being shipped to the lakes by way of the P. & L. E. R. R. The shipments, i is believed, will amount to about 150,000 tons:

THE Westinghouse Airbrake Works is only running half time, owing to a lack of orders. There is but little demand for railroad supplier at present. THE Flint Glass Workers' Association will hold their annual convention at Bellaire, O., on July 8. The session will last about six days. Reports of committees will be heard. It is also probable that some changes in the constitution will be wards.

THE LUTHERAN SYNOD.

Progress of Church Extension in the West-Tressler Orphans' Home - Missionary Work in India-The Money Needed.

The morning session of the Lutheran Synod vesterday commenced business by the reading of the biennial report by Rev. A. W. Lilly, D. D., of York, Pa. The report showed $83,098 40 received during the two years, or a larger amount than received during any previous biennium. The whole amount was appropriated to the churches of the West. Lenker, who secured 209 lots in the growing cities of the west. These lots are valued at abuot $25,000. Resolutions were adopted at the Synod asking that $35,000 be annually apportioned among District Synods, and providing that the General Synod constitute the next board of church extension by the appointment of nine members. This closed the morning session. The first business of the afternoon was the adoption of resolutions on the death of Rev. Zimmerman and Edward G. Snyder, who were Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Church Extension. Rev. W. G. Thrall, of Williamsport, Pa., then stated the misfortanes which have come to his work on account of the recent floods. He made an appeal for help which will be granted him.

Rev. Dr. Dunbar, of Lebanon, Pa., who is President of the Board of Trustees of the Tressier Orphans' Home, at Loysville, Pa., made his report, which showed that in the past 20 years there have been 599 orphans, distributed, as follows: Soldiers' orphans, 325; church orphans, 232; county children, 15; pay children, 27.

At the evening service Rev. W. H. Dunbar, of Lebanon, Pa., addressed the Synod. Church extension was the subject of his discourse which had been the subject before Synod in the day sessions. which had been the subject states the day sessions.

Before the regular evening session commenced Miss A. S. Kughler, M. D., spoke on the missionary work of India. Miss Kughler has established three medical dispensaries in Guntur, in Madras. Her aim is now to have a hospital and schoolhouse built, and requested the ladies of the Trinity Church to aid her in the undertaking.

The Church Home Festival.

This annual event comes off on the grounds of the Home, Fortieth street and Penn avenue, next Thursday afternoon and evening. Several novelties are promised among the amusements provided for the occasion, among which may be mentioned a May-pole dance by young friends of the Home and donkey riding on animals trained to go no faster than a walk, added to which is the standard attraction Punch and Judy. For older people, five o'clock tea will be provided, also a first-class supper, with the usual variety of other refreshments. The Penn avenue cable cars now pass the Home gate.

A GIRL FINDS HER MOTHER ALIVE

The rooms of the Citizens' Relief Committee were swarmed with laborers yesterday afternoon, who gathered to receive the pay due them for work at Johnstown. The work of paying off the men occupied but a very short time, after which the committee rooms relapsed into a dull, disinteresting appearance.

But little business of any kind was transacted. The members of the committee are only too glad that their arduous duties at the suffered to no little extent through their ab-The committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which Chairman McCreery and Committeeman S. S. Marvin, of the committee Committeeman S. S. Marvin, of the committee who went to Johnstown on Sunday to look over the work that had been done, were present. They reported that everything seemed to be going on smoothly, and that the work of the committee was everywhere very generally appreciated. They explained that they had held a conference with a number of, Johnstown's citizens, who had agreed that it was advisable to accept the offer of the Chicago Committee to furnish any number of portable houses at $100 each. The members of the committee thereupon unanimously agreed to purchase 100 of the portable houses at that figure, and telegraphed the result of their action to the Chicago committee at once.

WILL SERVE ON THE COMMITTEE. Ex-Dictator James B. Scott, S. S. Marvin and Reuben Miller decided that they would accept the position of commissioners of distribution as tendered to them by Governor Beaver, and immediately telegraphed His Excellency that they would serve and were ready to go to ohnstown whenever needed.

With the exception of the meeting of the omnittee, no other business was transfacted committee, no other business was transfacted during the day. The members of the committee do not know when another meeting will be called, having adjourned subject to the call of the Chair. Committeeman Dilworth, bowever, still remains at the rooms and takes charge of all matters relating to disbursements. The rooms are in charge of Secretary Frost and Stenographer Burke.

Dr. Thompson, of the State Board of Health, said to a DISPATCH reporter that the published accounts of the wholesale burning of debris at the bridge in Johnstown were unqualifiedly false. He said that nothing had been burned, except the matter that had been separated from the great mass, and then only when it was positively known that there were no bodies in the ruing. "The stories about the burning, as published, are false," said Dr. Thompson, "and you can say that I say so."

THE WOMEN'S WORK.

The Women's Relief Committee are just now s hard at work as they have been since the ment about the rooms as at first, but the work is still going smoothly on, and good results are being daily accomplished. Yesterday Mrs. Dr. Easton, the efficient head of the Bureau of Information, was overjoyed to greet the wan, pale face of Miss Amelia Theiss, who for days has been haunting the rooms of the committee has been haunting the rooms of the committee in search of her mother. Nothing could be learned of the latter, and all but the faith-ful daughter had come to the con-clusion that she was lost. The girl however, persevered, and yesterday morning she was more than overcome with joy when Mrs. Dr. Easton told her the glad news that her mother was alive, and at the Mercy Hos-nital.

United Bakers' Assembly No. 7247, K. of L., has ordered a strike against the shops of R. B. Ward & Co., East End; W. J. Ward, Allegheny, and G. S. Ward, Allegheny, The dispute is on the bakers' scale. The men demand that a day's work shall consist of 11 hours, and no overtime, except when unavoidable, and then to be paid at the rate of time and a half. The wages are fixed at $12 per week, the men to have the privilege of boarding out.

The Window Glass Workers' Association will hold their annual convention in their hall at the nearly refuge was received at the rooms yesterday. She was Miss L. W. she is on her way to Johnstown, where she goes at her own expense to do what she can for the slek and suffering women there.

The women in charge of the work at the Exposition building complain bitterly that a number of large clothing concerns of the city have sent them a lot of large cases, which were but half filled with men's clothing, in addition to which the contents were totally unfit for use, being for the most part old and discarded uniforms.

Among the sufferers assisted yesterday were John Frick and three children, J. H. Taggart, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. John Reed, Jr., Mrs. Albert Moffatt and four children, J. Paulen and wife, Alice Fallon, Mrs. William Boyd, S. M. Lynch, father, mother and grandfather, J. D. Lynch, Rose Doherty, and James B. Singer and five children.

SEVENTEEN BODIES RECOVERED.

The Corpse of Another Passenger on th Day Express Among the Number. .

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] Johnstown, June 17.-Seventeen morbodies were dug from the wreckage here to-day. The body of Mrs. Annie Bates, of Ra-cine, Wis., was among the number. She was a passenger on the day express lost on that fatal day. Beside a gold watch and chain and several rings, a draft for $64 and $65 in money were found on her person. She was buried promptly, as were all the other bodies found. Among those found were the three children of James Clark. They were tangled and endecomposed. All the others are as yet uniden-

The body of another unknown woman was The body of another unknown woman was found in the drift above the bridge late tonight. It was decomposed, and was horribly crushed and mutilated. The body was blown up with the last blast, which was put off after 8 o'clock to-night. It was buried to-night. All the morgues have been discontinued save one, which is located near the drift above the bridge. Among the bodies found to-day, two were dug up in the main street of Cambria City. They were buried without being recognized.

CLEARING UP THE RUINS.

Largely Increased Force of Men Making Good Progress with Work. JOHNSTOWN, June 17,-A largely increa force of men was at work in the ruins to-day and new men are coming in from every direction. General Hastings says about 5,500 men are now at work. Deafening blasts of dynamite are heard at short intervals, and a notice-able impression is being made on the debris above the stone bridge. The tour Philadelphia fire engines arrived here last night and to-day are pumping out ponds and foundations. The engines are manned by a strong force and they are doing much valuable work.

WORK OF THE U. S. ENGINEERS.

They Have Built Two Bridges and Othe wise Been of Service.

WASHINGTON, June 17 .- Captain Sears, o the engineer corps, who was ordered to Johns town to assist in the erection of pontoor oridges, has returned. There are now at John town three officers and 53 enlisted men of the engineer battalion of the army. They have built two bridges across Stony creek, and have been of service in other ways.

It has been suggested that they build perma nent trestlework bridges in place of the pon toon bridges, and they will probably undertake this work if material is furnished.

Newspaper Men Taken Sick. JOHNSTOWN, June 17 .- A number of the newspaper correspondents who have been on duty here since the disaster have been taken sick, and have been compelled to go home, Harry S. Brown, or the Philadelphia Press, was among those who have been taken home. Sending Orphans to the Sea Shore.

JOHNSTOWN, June 17 .- The Children's Aid Society to-morrow will send to Atlantic City a number of orphan children who have been saved from the flood. They will be kept at the sea shore until other arrangements can be perPLENTY OF FOOD.

Johnstown Has Provisions Enough to Last Five Days and More Are Coming-The Public Health Con-

tinnes Good. LFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Johnstown, June 17.—Several hundred more men arrived here to-day. There are now 2,500 laborers employed in Johnstown more mew arrived here to-day. There are now 2,500 laborers employed in Johnstown and the work is advancing very rapidly. The condition of the public health is very good, Dr. Gill Foster, acting surgeon of the Fourteenth regiment and of the labor camps, stated to-night, after a tour of inspection through all the camps, that there was not the slightest fear of an epidemic anywhere. Dr. B. Lee reported the same to General Hastings. Dr. Foster said that the people in Pittsburg were laboring under a wrong idea when they sapposed that the water was dangerous to them.

"The atmosphere around here is perfectly clear and healthy," he said, "and the oxydization which is constantly going on all along the river is sufficient assurance of the fact that the hydrant water is wholesome and certainly does not contain any diseased matter. I can assure you that the hydrant water is preferable to the water from any well around Pittsburg, because the latter are nearly all dangerous."

Dr. Silliman, Surgeon-in-Chief of the Medical Department, issued an order to-night to Dr. Johnston, his assistant, requesting him to concentrate the morgues of the Johnstown district. According to this arrangement there will only remain the morgue in the Millvade schoolhouse. Undertaker Henderson, of Johnstown, who lost all he had in the food, has been appointed chief of that morque, and his staff of assistants will handle all the bodies found hereafter.

General Hastings said that there was enough chamber are ended, and that they are allowed to attend to their own interests, which have found hereafter.

General Hastings said that there was enough food on hand to feed all the people for five days to come, and with the rapid transportation which is now arranged for by all rallroad companies there will be plonty of food here before the provisions have run out.

HEINRICHS.

Growth of the Fund in Germany. BERLIN, June 17.—The committee appointed to raise a fund for the Johnstown sufferers met to-day. The Burgomaster presided. Herr von Letzow, the Duke of Ratibon, and Herr von Koeler were appointed to act as honorary presidents. The Deutsche Bank will receive the douations. The Dowager Empress Augusta has subscribed 1,600 marks to the fund.

GONE TO JOHNSTOWN.

Governor Fornker Will Meet Governo Beaver at That Place To-Day. Governor J. B. Foraker, of Ohio, pass through Pittsburg en route to the East last night. The Governor remained in his car during the stop at the Union depot, and was in-accessible to newspaper men. His destination even is unknown, but it is presumed that he would stop at Johnstown to see the work of de-vastation. From a gentleman who came on that Foraker was deeply concerned regarding the flood, and expressed the deepest sympathy with the residents of Johnstown. His idea, it is said, in not awaiting a lengthy correspondence between himself and Governor Beaver was simply that red tape and time were not to be considered. Tents and assistance were needed, and although abused at times for his radicalism, when the opportunity for helping human kind presented itself, Governor Foraker was there.

human kind presented itself, Governor Foraker was there.

A telegram from Johnstown at a late hour last night stated that Governor Beaver would reach that place to-day. It is supposed Governor Foraker will coasult with him.

The following telegram was received at this office late last night from Columbus:
Governor Foraker left for New York at noon to-day. It is given out at his office that he left hurricelly in response to a telegram calling him East on private business. He left almost an hour before his Private Secretary, Charley Kurtz, arrived from Washington and the friends of other candidates for Governor claim that he has gone to New York to close up some financial matters in connection with the candidacy for Governor. Raids Upon Speak Ensies.

Inspector McAlecse yesterday entered information against John Sterling and his barkeeper Thomas Kelly, charging them with selling liquor without license and selling on Sunday, at No. 158 Water street. The inspector says that Sterling compels his two young daughters to serve drinks. Sterling was prosecuted once before by McAleese for Sunday selling. Information was also entered against William Kaylor and Samuel Pearson, whose "speakeasy." No. 150 and 151 Water street, was raided on Sunday.

An official of the Allegheny County Baseball League stated yesterday that there is a danger of Oakland withdrawing from that organiza-tion. The official said: "I am informed that the Oakland players are not taking sufficient interest in the game, and as a result their manager is inclined to disband the team. Recently the club has been playing extremely weak, and everybody connected with it is discouraged. However, the club may be strengthened, and if it is not we may expect it to retire from the league."

There'll be Plenty of Fun. One of the local sporting events of great in-terest to-day is the ball game at Recreation Park between the nines of Gusky and Kaufmann for $100 a side.
